DAY SET APART FOR LADIES.

Preparations are being made by housewives of Paducah and McCracken county for the exhibit of delicates at the fair. Over $100 has been set aside by the Paducah Fair association which will award premiums of $1 each to the winning exhibits.

This attraction called "ladies' day," is the second of the fair and the association hopes that housewives will get busy at once and contest for the prizes. The women of Paducah and this county, have a reputation for preparing good things to eat, and because of this fact the contests will be naturally be close. The judges will be compelled to work overtime, and if the predictions are correct they will not find it an easy task to point out the winning exhibits.

There will be several departments. The first will be Department E, consisting of jellies, preserves and canned goods. Under this head come apple, peach, pear, damson, cherry and plum preserves; apple, crabapple, blackberry, grape and plum jellies; blackberry and raspberry jam; apple butter, brandy peaches, canned peaches, pears, grapes, strawberries, cherries, tomatoes, etc.

Department F, will be known as the pickle department, including cucumber pickles, (sweet and sour) sweet, pear and peach pickle, chow chow, mixed pickles, tomato pickle, onion pickle, etc. Next comes the bread, cake and pie department. Premiums will go to those exhibiting the best salt rising light bread, yeast bread, light bread rolls, corn light bread, graham bread, chocolate cake, white cake, caramel cake, fruit cake, angel food cake, sugar cookies, apple, peach, pumpkin, lemon and cheese pie, and molasses, sugar, coconut and fudge candies.

Fancy Work.

Another item that will interest the ladies will be the fancy work department where all kinds of silk embroidery, linen and cotton embroidery, drawn work, lace work, knitting and crocheting, and quilts will be displayed. The ladies will begin work at once to compete for the premiums offered. Premiums will go to the winning displays as follows: Silk embroidery—lunch cloth, center piece, edgeboard scarf, infant's flannel skirt, pin cushion, sofa pillow, dollies (set of six). Linen or cotton embroidery—eyeglasses, shadow, French, Montmellick and Hardanger. Drawn work—Table cloth, lunch cloth, tray cloth, dressed scarf, dollies (set of six) handkerchief and baby cap. Lace work—Center piece, dollies, handkerchief, infant's cap. Battenburg and best specimens of lace work not named and tatting.

Under the head of knitting and crocheting comes mittens or gloves, baby booties, shawl, knitted lace not less than two yards, crocheted purse and shawl, and center piece. Premiums will also go to the best specimens of hemstitching, fancy stock, fancy apron, hand made belt, house apron and laundry bag.

The last department will be for quilts as follows: Silk patch-work quilt, silk crazy quilt, silk comfort, woolen patch-work quilt, woolen crazy quilt, woolen coverlet, calico patch-work quilt and home made counterpane.

Proposals for Arbitration.

Montreal, July 22.—A proposition to arbitrate came to the Grand Trunk railway chairman of its striking trainmen and conductors today from W. L. MacKenzie King, minister of labor coupled with the intimation that if both parties would accept the award to be binding, the government would defray the incidental expenses. The answer of the company was mailed. It was not made public.

ENGLISH STRIKE ENDS.

12,000 Railroad Employees Accept Company's Terms.

Newcastle, Eng., July 22.—The strike of 12,000 employees of the Northeastern railroad was settled last evening. The men accepted the terms offered by the company, and the night and day shifts will return to work tonight and tomorrow, respectively.

Liberal Leader Calls Members of Royal Family "Parasites" When He Opposes Increases in Civil Lists

Lively Debate on Subject in House of Commons—Barcelona Riots Serious—Crippen's Hiding Place.

London, July 22.—An attack was made on the royal family in the house of commons today by George Barnes, Liberal leader, speaking against the passage of the civil list, money paid the king and his family. Barnes said he would oppose granting an increased civil list unless the king and prince of Wales would surrender to the treasury revenues received from their immense landed properties.

"The royal income is excessive, and the expenses of the royal household honeycombed with abuses," he said. "It conceals a nest of parasites, fattening on the nation under the shadow of the throne."

The king and his family asked $3,160,000. After debates it was granted. Laborite delegates dubbed the family "immoral."

Crippen in Andorra.

London, July 22.—Advices received at Scotland Yard strengthen the belief that Dr. Crippen is hiding in the little republic of Andorra, practically immune from extradition. Authorities say Crippen was last seen at Vernet Les Baines, a French watering place. Identifications are believed to be positive. Andorra is 175 miles in extent, on the southern slope of France, and Spain. It is an independent republic. The shepherds are unwilling to allow criminals to be extradited.

The Barcelona Riots.

Madrid, July 22.—Former Minister of the Interior La Cierova, in a recent declaration in the cortes that 1,780 lives were lost last summer in rioting at Barcelona. It is the first admission that the outbreak was serious. It is conceded there was serious trouble. Martial law was declared throughout Spain, but the government has denied that the outbreak was of a dangerous character. La Cierova said that in addition 1,725 persons were tried for rioting and 19,000 were driven from the country, mostly to France.

Will Move to Cleveland.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis L. Bebout arrived in the city last night from Baltimore, Md., after a stay of three weeks. Mr. Bebout has been at the headquarters of the United States Fidelity and Guaranty company with which he is now connected. Mrs. Bebout will remain in the city as a guest of her mother, Mrs. S. A. Street. Later Mr. and Mrs. Bebout will leave for Cleveland, where Mr. Bebout will have his headquarters.

McCracken County Is Allowed Two Delegates.

McCracken county will be allowed two delegates at the national conservation congress which will be in session in St. Paul, Minn., September 6, 7, 8 and 9. County Judge Alben W. Barkley received a letter this morning from the officials stating that they would appreciate it to have two delegates from McCracken county. The appointment does not provide for any remuneration, and the delegates will be on their own expenses. The session of the congress will be made more interesting by the attendance of President Taft, Col. Theodore Roosevelt and Gifford Pinchot, besides many other men of note.

Sues For Divorce--- Children Are Parties

Sarah J. Hoskins, who resides in the county on the Hinkleville road, filed suit in the McCracken circuit court today through her attorneys, Hendrick & Crice, for divorce from her husband, Samuel Hoskins, and for $5,000 alimony. She alleges abandonment as a reason why the divorce should be granted. Mrs. Hoskins, children by the first marriage of Hoskins, are made defendants also. She alleges that her husband disposed of about 800 acres of land

INSURANCE WILL NOT BE PAID BY ACCIDENT CO.'S

Until Investigation Into the Death of I. G. Rawn is Made by Jury.

Thousands of Dollars in Policies Involved.

FAMILY IS FIRM IN ITS OPINION.

Chicago, July 22.—Representatives of insurance companies, which held I. G. Rawn's policies for $145,000, today demanded a new jury investigation. They say C. F. Hatley, foreman of the coroner's jury, was not qualified, because of friendship to the family. Hatley and the Rawn family still insist that Rawn was murdered.

Life companies holding policies for $40,000 will pay the amount regardless, but the accident companies insist on a thorough investigation. Coroner Hoffman says he received a confidential letter that a negro murdered Rawn. The motive was not robbery. The coroner refuses to divulge the writer's name or the name of the suspect.

The family bases the belief of suicide now on finding a small piece of lead in the fireplace of their home. This is believed to be the bullet fired from Rawn's revolver. They will investigate this and also have a chemical analysis made of stains on the sidewalk to determine if they are blood.

Severe Treatment for Wife.

Chicago, July 22.—Because of a family quarrel in which he insisted that his wife was at fault, J. Anderson, of Waukegan, today compelled her to do penance by crawling on her knees several blocks to church and confessing that he had married the domestic tranquility.

Young Bandits at Golconda.

Clyde McKinney and Willie Rayburn, 14 year old bandits, were taken to Golconda, Ill., at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon by Sheriff Thomas E. Phelps, who arrived yesterday afternoon. They will be tried today in the juvenile court and probably sentenced to the state reform school at Pontiac, Ill.

Portland, Ore., July 22.—The forty-seventh biennial convention of the Ancient Order of Hibernians went on record today as unanimously favoring the inclusion of a compulsory course in Irish history in the curriculum of the parochial schools and colleges of the Roman Catholic church.

Horse Stolen

Officials of the county and city are looking for the thief who operated near the city last night. Mr. Tom Creek, a farmer living three miles from Paducah on the Benton road notified the police this morning that his fine saddle horse was taken from the barn last night. There is no clue.

FOREST FIRES IN NORTHWEST OVER

RAINS HAVE EXTINGUISHED THE FLAMES—ONE TOWN IS CAUGHT.

Seattle, July 22.—It is believed forest fires the northeastern Washington, and the panhandle of Idaho have been effectively checked by the steady rains, beginning last night and continuing today. Flames caught Hoquiam, Wash., destroying a hotel. One person was burned to death and two firemen are missing. Fires in British Columbia are unabated.

Louis Futrell is Found Guilty of Killing Horace Osburn and Two Years is Penalty—Father Free

Second Trial of Tennessee
Youth Results in Shaving
Eight Years Off His Sentence.

Two years in the penitentiary for Louis Futrell and an acquittal for J.
S. Futrell, charged with the murder of Horace Osburn, a street car motorman, was the verdict returned this afternoon at 1:55 o'clock by a jury in the circuit court. The jury was out over 26 hours before a verdict was reached. On his first trial Louis Futrell was given 10 years in the penitentiary. Attorneys for Futrell will make a motion for a new trial tomorrow.

From the first ballot the jurors acquitted J. S. Futrell, of Model, Tenn., the father of Louis Futrell; but the jury disagreed as to the length of punishment for the son. On the first ballot seven jurors voted to give Louis Futrell two years, two voted for acquittal for him also, and three voted to give him a longer term. The jurors wrangled on this point until this afternoon, when the twelve men agreed on two years.

Only a few people were in the court house when the verdict was returned, as it was the general opinion that the jury was hopelessly hung. J. S. Futrell wept at the verdict against his son. Louis Futrell also cried, as he was taken to jail, where he will remain until the motion for a new trial is acted upon.

Louis Futrell shot and killed Horace Osburn in the spring of 1909, in a boarding house on Kentucky avenue near Third street.

Under the new law, juries do not fix the penalty in felony cases, that being left to the discretion of the judge within the law, after the jury has found the defendant guilty. However, it is not known whether it affects crimes committed before the law went into effect or not. If possible, the attorneys for the defense, who will ask for a new trial, will take advantage of the verdict.

Miss Acker Gets Scholarship.

Prof. L. W. Feezor, county school superintendent, announced today that Miss Annabel Acker passed the examination for a scholarship to the State university at Lexington. Miss Acker was the only applicant to take the examination this year, and passed it with a high average. She will leave in September for Lexington and will enter the classical school. For two years she has been a teacher in the city public schools, and a popular young lady.

LAUDANUM POISONING PROVES ALMOST FATAL

Suffering from the effects of laudanum poisoning, Will Dillard, a resident of the Husbards road, was found yesterday at his home about three miles from the city. When discovered he was unconscious, but he rallied, and today was resting easy. Dr. W. H. Parsons was called and administered emetics.

TREASON LURKS IN PARTYISM

BEN B. LINDSAY CALLS ON ALL PEOPLE TO SUPPORT THE INSURGENTS.

Madison, Wis., July 22.—In an article today in La Follette's Weekly Judge Ben B. Lindsay, of the famous Denver juvenile court, appeals to Democrats and Republicans to support the "Insurgents." He says the struggle is between "not parties, but people and privilege. Privilege is bi-partisan and knows no parties. The old parties don't exist."

"We are on the eve of the fiercest struggle since the Civil war for human rights against property rights. It is part of the conspiracy of special interest to use the slogan of the party against the man who rings true. To follow such a trail is treason," he says.

GREAT HEROISM DISPLAYED WHEN BIG GUN BURSTS

Officers and Enlisted Men at Fortress Monroe Act
With Coolness.

Defective Safety Device
Causes Accident

ELEVEN VICTIMS NUMBERED

Norfolk, Va., July 22.—Colonel Townsley informed relatives that 11 men were killed by the explosion of a gun yesterday and will await their instructions as to the disposition of the bodies. Townsley reported to the department today: "The accident was due to the premature discharge. The breech block was blown to the rear, the discharge occurring before the rotation of the block had begun. Captain James Prentice was in command. Lieutenant Hawes was in charge of the emplacement. Lieutenant VanDusen was timekeeper. Sergeant Brinkley and Corporal Humphreys and other enlisted men who were shocked and injured, rendered aid to the injured. Van Dusen's leg was broken. He directed and Hawes extinguished with his bare hands a second powder charge which was about to explode. It is probable that special letters commending their bravery will be sent. The catastrophe is ascribed by ordnance experts as a faulty safety device."

The fortress is wrapped in gloom, although the heroism of the men relieved last night in a measure the oppression following the accident. All guns will be investigated as to the condition of the safety device to prevent the discharge of a gun before it is raised above the parapet. The accident was attributed to this as it was the first load in the gun. This could not have been caused by a burning rag inside.

Mayfield Lodge Women.

The Manchester Grove No. 29 of the Woodman's circle entertained a delegation of the Isman Grove No. 28, of Mayfield, today with a most delicious banquet at the headquarters of the Paducah grove, in the Three Links building. This morning the Manchester Grove gave a boat ride on the G. W. Robertson for their sister chapter, and a most enjoyable time was spent. The delegates from Mayfield were Mesdames Effie Brown Bertie Copeland, Henry Willett, Cassie Timmons and John Willett.

TWO SCHOLARSHIPS IN ENGINEERING AT STATE

County Judge Alben W. Barkley has the authority to grant two scholarships with special privileges to the school of civil engineering of the state university to two young men of the county. He received a letter this morning, stating that two appointments could be made. The purpose of the appointments is to secure young men who will be competent to grade county roads, and to be of service in the campaign for better roads. Any young men interested in obtaining the scholarships may secure further information by seeing County Judge Barkley. The age limit is between 18 and 23 years.

RUBBER THIEVES

STEAL $200 WORTH OF RUBBER
TIRING FROM SHOPS.

John Zeller and J. L. Putnam Are Losers—Clew to Perpetrators.

Nearly $200 worth of rubber tiring was stolen last night when two blacksmith's shops in Paducah were broken into. The police department is working on a clue. The heaviest loss was sustained by John Zeller, at 123 North Second street, where two rolls of buggy tires were stolen. The second place visited by the thieves was the blacksmith shop of J. L. Putnam, at 217 Washington street. About 100 feet of tiring, valued at about $45, was taken.

At both places the robbers effected entrance through the back doors, by prying them open with crow bars. On leaving with their booty they left the doors standing open. The discoveries were made about 7 o'clock this morning and the police department succeeded in getting a clue that may trace the thieves. The robberies were evidently committed by the same persons.

SUSPEND RATE

AGREEMENT REACHED AT CON-FERENCE WITH RAILROAD COMMISSION.

Washington, July 22.—The proposed increase in rates in Western trunk lines was suspended until November 1, as the result of an agreement reached today between Chairman Knapp, of the interstate commerce commission, and Chairman W. B. Hoarmer and 12 members of the Western trunk lines committee. The terms are similar to those announced some time ago.

Vincennes at Hopkinsville

Took One; Lost One.

Clarksville, Tenn., July 22.—Paducah lost the first game by the overwhelming score of 12 to 3, but won the second game by a score of 5 to 2 yesterday afternoon in one of the closing games of the season. A large crowd was present as the Clarksville fans anticipated that the locals might take both games and creep up on Vincennes in the final dash for the pennant. After completely outplaying Paducah in the first game, the Indians came right back in the second and won out.

In the first game Clarksville's batters fattened their batting averages at the expense of Woodring, who lost his first game since joining Paducah. He was batted for a total of 15 hits, and his curves and shoots were about as effective against the local batmen as snowballs in July.
"Cy" Lambert twirled a steady game for Clarksville, and allowed only six

Second Game.

Both pitchers who started the second game were knocked out of the box but won out in the final inning. "Rube" Floyd started the game for the Indians, but Manager Angermier soon found occasion to remove him, and "Dummy" Payne was sent to the box and the local batmen were completely puzzled.
Lambert started to twirl the second game but the Indians got after him, and Priest was placed in the box.
All went well until the seventh inning with the score tied 2 to 2.
Then in the final round something happened. Two Indians got on base, and Lockhart walked up to the pan and knocked out a home run, declaring a dividend of three runs.

Some Batting at Hoptown.

Hopkinsville, Ky., July 22.—Vincennes took the first game of the series yesterday afternoon by a score of 6 to 1 and assisted in establishing his right to the pennant. Beasley proved the master of the Hopkinsville batters while McMonigle was rapped for ten hits.

Baseball Dope.

Ewing Harris, who was a member of the twirling staff of the Indians until last week when he was released because of his failure to keep in condition has signed with Clarksville. Harris is slated to pitch his first game with Clarksville against Paducah this afternoon. Harris was with Clarksville in the days of the old Kitty, and is still a good twirler.
Nathan L. Dier, of Louisville, has been appointed the new umpire in the Kitty as with six clubs another umpire is necessary. Dier is well known in Louisville as a baseball writer, and has a thorough knowledge of baseball. He resigned a position as umpire in the Bluegrass league in order to accept a place in the new Kitty.

Woodring is a bad guesser as the report of the game yesterday with Clarksville shows. The Vincennes
Capital says:

"I'll defeat Clarksville when I pitch against them," said Gay Woodring of the Paducah team last night and we are sure to get no worse than an even break. The Paducah team delights in winning from Clarksville almost as much as defeating Vincennes. Hopkinsville has it in for Clarksville and the Hoptown fans are almost wild with enthusiasm over the result of the present series with Turtles.

Hooks Vs. LaCenter.

The second game of a series between the B. B. Hooks and the crack LaCenter team will be played next Sunday afternoon at LaCenter.
Manager Ziba Williams has arranged the game and quite a delegation of fans will accompany the Hooks to the battlefield. Two weeks ago the series by a score of 2 to 1. Both teams will use the same batteries.
For LaCenter Eberly and Shaw are expected to work while Council will twirl for the Hooks. The Hooks will lineup: Wagner or Gallagher, c; McCune, p; Henneberger, 1b; Mercer, 2b; Cox, 3b; Monroe, ss; Han-ners, 1f; Williams, cf; and Harper,

Pittsburgh, July 22.—Pittsburgh took both games of a double-header easily from Brooklyn, who earlier in the season helped to give the champions their setback. Proper hitting at the proper time was the story of both contests. Leach was a star in the field and at the bat. He hit a

Like a stroke of Lightning from a clear sky comes the startling announcement that the Cochran Shoe Company will place their entire stock of Shoes, consisting of the best grade makes, such as Hanans, Stetson, John Foster, E. P. Reed, John Kelley, Charles K. Fox, Etc., for Men, Women and Children at Public Sale.

Beginning Saturday, July 23, and Ending Saturday, Aug. 6

On account of being hemmed in by the erection of the ten story Bank building on the corner of Fourth and Broadway since March 1st and the backward season brought about by the disastrous weather conditions, we are determined to cut our Stock in two. It will be a gigantic undertaking, but the prices we will put forth will make this the largest sale of the kind ever inaugurated in this part of the country. We have concluded to give the people the first opportunity to buy High Grade Shoes and Oxfords at far less than actual cost of the raw material.

During all our period of honorable merchandising in Paducah we have gained a reputation for honesty and fair dealing second to none in the annals of Paducah. But the end has come; our entire stock is entirely too large at this time of the year and we have decided to reduce our stock just half of what it is and the prices we intend putting on this merchandise will make them move like wild-fire and make us the past grand master of the shoe business in Paducah forever.

A Country of Charms.

Cornwall, which is famous for the names of its local saints, is a county of "charms." The passing of children through holes in the earth, rocks, or trees, once an established rite, is still practiced in various parts of Cornwall, wrote Thomas Q. Couch about fifty years ago. "With us, boys are cured by creeping on the hands and knees beneath a thimble which has grown into the soil at both ends. Children affected with hernia are still passed through a slit in an ash sapling before sunrise, fasting; after which the slit portions are bound up, and as they unite so the malady is cured. The ash is indeed a tree of many virtues; venomous reptiles are never known to rest under its shadows, and a single blow from an ash stick is instant death to an adder; struck by a bough from any other tree the reptile is said to retain marks of life until the sun goes down."—London Chronicle.

AFTER GENERAL ASSEMBLY

Active efforts are already being made by certain people and interests to name the nominees for the next legislature of Kentucky. Members of the general assembly will not be elected until a year from next November, but there are evidences in many parts of the state of the activity of those who want a legislature that they can "control" as they did the last one.

Men are being picked out and induced to run, not for their merit or fitness to serve the people, but for their pliability in the hands of the professional lobbyists who hang around Frankfort and their willingness to trade their votes upon any questions, in exchange for some job in a public institution or other valuable consideration.

Probably in no state in the union was the lobby ever more arrogant, bold and powerful than it was in the last two sessions of the Kentucky general assembly. With a large and controlling number of members of those two sessions the term "lobbyist" instead of being an opprobrious epithet seemed to be a title of honor and a passport to their highest and most obnoxious consideration. No men enjoyed the privilege and honors upon the floor of the two houses more than did the known representatives of interests seeking legislative favors.

A sturdy constituent from out in the state, should he have attempted to enter, would have found the doors tightly closed in his face, but a lobbyist, appearing at the entrance, would have found those same doors opened to him as if by the magic word "Same," and a cordial reception awaiting him on the inside.

The early birds are now, even this far in advance, busily at work to catch the worms for the next legislature, and it is their ambition to get together a body in 1912 just as much to their taste and liking as were the last two.

What is the remedy? What steps should be taken to circumvent their evil machinations? The people in every legislative and senatorial district should take hold of the matter for themselves and see that only men of known integrity and ability should be chosen as nominees. They should not vote for men with whom they would not trust their own money or valuables and in whose word they can not have implicit confidence.

A higher estimate should be placed upon the legislative office, and good men, even at a sacrifice to their personal interests, should be induced to accept nominations. The idea that "everybody's business is nobody's business" should be discarded and good citizens in every district should actively organize to see that they are worthily and honorably represented in the general assembly of their state.—Kentucky State Journal.

Kentucky cities in equipment for the protection of human life. The spirit of cooperation and unselfish interest in the welfare of each other, manifested in the work of organization, is as valuable as the plant itself. It is Godsend especially to the poor and afflicted of the city, and is another proof that we best help ourselves in helping others.

THE FAIR AND THE FARMERS.

The farmers of McCracken county must take a hand to make the fall fair a success. They must not stand back and await the offer of cash prizes that will be remunerative. If the premiums pay some portion of the expense of the exhibit, the farmer is repaid many times; but if no premium more than a colored ribbon were given, it is his fair and he is the one who will profit by it. The fair offers the farmers the opportunity for a local exposition, where they may study the results of their own efforts; compare methods and products; learn what the section really is producing, and gain whatever advantage there is in the knowledge thus afforded. Co-operation among agriculturalists is a modern necessity, and the more general that co-operation, the better and quicker the results. Farmers do not compete with one another, excepting in the excellence of farm management and production, and that competition is altogether stimulating and in no sense detrimental. The purpose of the fall fair is to raise the standard of production in the county, and the benefits from it will be far reaching.

If the farmers take hold of the idea, and put into it a little of their own effort and good will and presence.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Ready to Fight Japs.

Camp Gregg, Pangasinaw, L. I.

"Dear Old Paduke."

Away over here in far-off Philippines are many of Kentucky's noble sons, and among their thoughts of home and sweethearts are inklings of war, and that with the slant-eyed Japs. As I am a member of the field artillery branch of the service, I want to know that the "artillery" (mountain) is ready. Thanks to Old Kentucky and Missouri for their mules, the greatest animal in the world for mountain artillery. The mountain gun is made so as to be taken apart into four pieces, carried on the backs of mules. It discharges a projectile of 18 lbs. for a distance of 4,000 yards and with the aid of the good old mule, can be taken up any mountain trail. And so we have just completed our annual target practice I know its value in time of war, for this year's practice has been far in advance over the past. There is no more going out on the range at a known distance, and firing at a target you know the size and every detail of. With the present equipment and knowledge of maneuvers, the battery is halted some few thousand yards in the rear, while the scouts find the target being given the general direction only.

When found the battery moves forward cautiously and under cover of hill or woods, until within range the guns are unpacked from the mules and run by hand until the target can just be seen over the crest then the range is determined by firing a certain number of rounds. Then the fire for effect, is begun, and believe me, it is war. The battery is practiced in firing at clouds of smoke which represent the enemy, a fuse being attached to several small piles of black powder with intervals to represent another battery firing. Also at moving targets drawn on sled-runners. The most exciting is the target that appears along the road side, while the battery is in close or wooded country. Just like an ambush. There's where you take your last off to the mule for he is the quickest thing you ever saw from under that gun, and it hardly hits the ground before its assembled and fired. People who have never seen a mountain battery can hardly realize. In the recent and only maneuvers held in the Philippines, the mountain battery was assigned to the brown forces representing the Japs, and it was the mule soldiers who decided the fight, all because they could take the same size gun, places where a light battery couldn't go. So the mule is the best mountain climbing animal Uncle Sam can get. The war department has moved us from the most southern post in the island to Jolo, (where there is the only place for a possible outbreak as far as the Philippines are concerned with American government), to the most northern, our present station, and as China seems to be getting mad, the mules and new way get a chance to show the world their great combination. I will be back to see my friends in Paducah next spring, but I want to say that the "mountain artillery is ready." As ever,

Yours truly,

GEORGE BROWNELL, BARRICKMAN.

JONES WINS FIGHT FOR JONESBORO

ILLINOIS CENTRAL FINALLY RE-CHRISTENS STATION.

Amusing Controversy Over Name of Station on the Evansville Division.

PERSONALS FROM RAILROADS

One small station on the Evansville district of the Louisville division of the Illinois Central railroad has had its name changed, closing a long battle. The station is 55 miles from Princeton and has been known as Highland for many years, despite the fact that citizens have endeavored to have the name changed to Jonesboro. This change of name has just been granted by Vice President W. L. Park. The fact that so many small stations have names derived from the common name Jones, has caused the railroad officials to hesitate in changing the name of Highland.

Much amusement has been afforded passengers who were acquainted with the efforts to have the name of the station changed. After it was christened Highland the principal property owner, whose name is Jones, erected a large signboard on the opposite side of the track with the following inscription: "This is not Highland but Jonesboro." The battle has waged for several years until the railroad officials finally surrendered and the name of the station was changed.

The special excursion train run from Jackson, Tenn., to Evansville, arrived in Paducah last night at 10:30 o'clock on the return trip. There were 12 coaches in the train. About 100 people from Paducah took advantage of the low rate to Evansville.

Next Sunday one of the annual excursions from St. Louis will arrive in Paducah, and several hundred visitors will spend Sunday in the city. The special excursion train will leave St. Louis Saturday night and will arrive in Paducah about 7 o'clock Sunday morning via Cairo. Returning the special train will leave Paducah at 5:30 o'clock. Tonight the Plain City lodge of machinists will meet at the Central Labor Union hall, and a full attendance of all the members is desired. The delegates, Harry Kelley and Jeff Bell, who have returned from Chicago after attending the conference in regard to the new wage scale, will make their report. The wage scale has not been signed by the union, but no trouble is anticipated although it may be at least a month before the new scale is signed. The machinists were offered the same increase that the blacksmiths accepted.

DENY WOOD PULP SHORTAGE.

U. S. Consul at Quebec Attacks Recent Raise in Prices.

Washington, July 22.—Denial that there was a shortage of pulp wood in Quebec such as to justify an increase in the price of paper was made today by United States Consul Willich at Quebec in an official report to the department of state. The following summary of the report was made by officials of the department.

"The consul states that there is not likely to be a shortage in the future supply of the market in the United States because of the restrictions placed by the provincial authorities upon the exportation of pulp wood cut on crown lands. He states that despite the prohibition of exportations of pulp wood from crown lands subsequent to May 1 last, the supply on hand and which may be secured from private lands in the future would be entirely adequate to the demand, and there need be no apprehension of a shortage."

The Cure.
Once there was a man who made life miserable for all he met by eternally harping about his aches and pains, says Judge.

He would discourse on the subject of his dyspepsia, and he would almost interrupt a religious service to tell of his rheumatic symptoms.

If he had a stitch in his side he had to pester his friends with it, and a headache helped him make everybody unhappy.

At last a bright young woman, to whom the man applied for sympathy cured him of all his ailments.

When he was in the midst of a catalogue of his sufferings she said sweetly:

"Yes, it is strange how many of these things affect a man as he begins to grow old."

That man never had a symptom after that.

American Anti-Boycott Association Makes Statement.

New York, July 22.—Declination by the American Anti-Boycott association to abandon on its part the litigation between the American Federation of Labor and the Bucks Store and Range company, settlement of which between the federation and company was recently reported.

In a statement, Walter Gordon Merritt, assistant counsel of the Anti-Boycott association, declares that this organization is a party interested in the litigation, taking up the suits "at the request of the company, and has borne the entire expense on the express understanding that they would be carried to a final conclusion, and that the company would operate to that end."

AMERICAN IN TROUBLE.

Mexico City, July 22.—The department of foreign relations, at the solicitation of the American ambassador, has asked by telegraph for information relating to the arrest and imprisonment at Tijuana, in Lower California, of D. W. McKay, is alleged to have run afoul of the Mexican authorities through tearing down a portion of a boundary fence on an estate which he had recently purchased.

CHAPTER X.
DE in a great measure to Kirby's and Adele's high spirits, which infected all but three members of the company, the dinner in honor of Colonel Moreau was an entire success and, in fact, could not have been surpassed had that unfortunate gentleman himself been present. Judge Pleydell, believing that he was assisting to entertain one who by championing the cause of the Randalls, while at the same time ridding the community of the notorious Cameo Kirby, had earned his last esteem and gratitude, told his best stories in his happiest vein, and Mme. Davezac, together with Ann Pleydell, suffering under the same delusion, put forth every effort to charm, even going to the length of heartily applauding the judge's most venerable and moth-ravaged yarns.

No mean raconteur himself, Kirby ransacked his vast store of personal experience for interesting topics of conversation that would bear rehearsal in the present company, and even Buncie, finally and unwillingly drawn by some mysterious spell into the vortex of small talk, carefully selected, as befitting a "secretary," the least inane of his many escapades and ventured to confide it to the demure ear of his dinner partner, Miss Pleydell. This heroic action of the old river gambler—for he was desperately embarrassed at the honor shown him and thoroughly cognizant that must be the inevitable and tragic ending of his partner's reckless action—was sufficient testimony to the fact that the preoccupied manner of M. Veaudry, coupled with Mr. Randall's grave silence and studied courtesy toward Kirby, had no effect upon the spirits of the company, if, indeed, their demeanor was even noted by the majority.

Before entering the house the two gentlemen in question had come to an understanding regarding the status of their guest, concurring in the opinion that he was impersonating the gentleman in whose honor the dinner had been planned. But Aaron alone had found a sinister significance in the General's observation to the effect that Kirby wore a quantity of cameos, and, although he lacked authentic evidence upon which to erect his suspicions, while likewise granting that it was an amazing and unbelievable action for one to deliberately walk into the house of his enemies, he vaguely sensed that the pseudo Colonel Moreau was none other than the notorious Eugene Kirby.

Still, Aaron Randall was a strictly just and upright man, who was fully aware of the many crimes committed in the name of circumstantial evidence. Slow to pronounce judgment, he was quick to act when once assured that in no sense would justice be violated. Moreover, Adele, in whose integrity and force of character he had the firmest belief and for whom he had the highest regard and proof of whose acumen he had had ample testimony, vouched for the imposture and even confessed complicity if not actual initiative in the same. In the absence of Tom Randall she was absolute mistress, with the right to act as she deemed fit, and had, moreover, extracted his word of honor that he would trust her until the arrival of her brother. Even had he been satisfied with the truth of his conjectures regarding Kirby's identity this promise to Adele would have pledged Aaron to secrecy, and M. Veaudry, being subsequently acquainted with the compact, likewise agreed that it could not be violated.

For the young creole this passive role was extremely difficult, and it was eloquent proof of his self-command and personal integrity, coupled with those refined instincts bestowed by gentle birth and breeding, that he considered Aaron's promise equally binding upon himself and, repressing all promptings of jealousy, refrained from denouncing Kirby as an impostor. The successful suit of an honorable rival would have been difficult enough to recognize, but this encroachment of a stranger who at the best was a masquerader if not a character more sinister and disreputable was intolerable, for M. Veaudry had gathered from Mr. Randall's manner that he suspected their guest of being guilty of something more criminal than assuming a name to which he had no right.

Thus, even while the young creole and Aaron prayed that Tom Randall's arrival would be hastened and coincident with it free vent could be given to their suspicions, Larkin Buncie earnestly hoped to the contrary—hoped that Kirby would suddenly realize his danger, growing the more deadly and certain as every minute passed, and would ride for the river before the coming of Nemesis.

But evidently nothing was more remote from that reckless young gentleman's intention, for, unmindful of his partner's increasing uneasiness and that both were the object of watchful, hostile eyes, he continued to act as if time and opportunity had been created solely for Adele and himself. Dinner finally at an end, he and his young hostess, entirely absorbed in each other's society, sought the drawing room balcony, while the others, with the exception of Buncie, indulged in a game of piquet, M. Veaudry proving a wretched partner, his entire attention being occupied with the couple on the balcony.

M. Veaudry, owing to his preoccupation, proving such a thankless partner, Mme. Davezac at last turned to Buncie and suggested that he and Kirby join the game in lieu of the young creole and the judge.

"Eh, truly, Anatole," she added, with some asperity, tapping the other's arm with her fan, "you cannot keep your mind on the game, and so we are unable to play. Will you surrender your place to Colonel Moreau?"

"It seems to me that I have already done that," he responded gloomily. With as good grace as possible yielding to the dictates of courtesy, Kirby unwillingly terminated his tete-a-tete with Adele, and as he approached the card table his place was promptly preempted by the young Creole, who followed Miss Randall to the balcony. It was the first time he had been alone with Adele, and his long repressed emotion and bitterness found vent.

"Ah, maizelle, it is true," he said reproachfully. "You are changed—so quickly. Yes, you will say I wanted to see you happier, but I also had wished to be the one to make you so. Adele," he added earnestly, striving to take her hand, "if this difference in you comes only from the gratitude you feel to—Colonel Moreau because he tried to protect your father I shall be happy. But how have this man bewitched you that?"

"I don't understand you, Anatole," she said quietly, drawing away.

"This I that do not understand you, Adele. I think you know from the first he is not Colonel Moreau. I have some very strange suspicion of him." Instantly the woman in her was up in arms, seeking to defend, eager to do battle for the object it sought to shield. "It is enough that I know he is a man who has had a great wrong done him. That's one way of making a woman believe that you love her—when she's trying to help some one in trouble, make it harder for her—be jealous," she finished, with a bitter laugh.

"I am jealous—I do not deny that. But I am, first of all things, a man of honor," he said quietly enough, although white with anger. His voice trembled with emotion as he added, with simple dignity: "Do you think a man of honor have suspicion of a rival only because he is jealous? Do you think I would suspect him only for that?"

"I can't discuss it with you," she returned coldly. Leaning on the balcony railing, she promptly became absorbed in the wonders of the night. Recognizing the sign of dismissal, he yet hesitated, miserably conscious that he had offended, but still feeling justified in the position he had assumed, still holding that those emotions which had prompted his words were but natural, impersonal and sincere. It was his right to protect the girl he loved from the wiles of a nameless adventurer, of whose integrity he had the gravest doubts. It was his right to protect her from herself, for, deny it as she might, it was all too bitterly apparent that this debonaire impostor had succeeded where others had failed and that Adele had discarded all sorrow with her mourning and was yielding to a fascination that he firmly believed would prove her ruin.

While he still hesitated, afraid to make an enemy of the girl he loved, yet stubborn in his resolution to thwart Kirby, Aaron Randall, suspecting some such controversy as had taken place, joined them on the balcony, and Anatole, with evident relief, turned again to Adele.

"Mademoiselle, here is your cousin."

He will not be thought to be jealous," he said gravely. "I ask him to tell you what he will not tell me. I ask him to tell you what he thinks about this gentleman."

"Cousin Aaron," replied the girl, turning and confronting the two from whom she had most to fear, "in my brother's absence you respect my authority here, do you not? Very well, then. My introduction of this gentleman as Colonel Moreau is enough for you."

"It must be, Cousin Adele," replied Aaron, evidently greatly perplexed and troubled.

"And I am responsible for my actions only to my brother," added the girl, looking directly at M. Veaudry.

He flushed under the scrutiny of her eyes and the significant infection of her voice.

"In his absence I would protect you. I would act for him," he protested desperately.

"You may when you have his authority. Until then I bid you adieu!" And, with an elaborate courtesy and pleasant smile, she vanished through the window, while the gentlemen remained on the balcony, a prey to the most disquieting thoughts.

"You see how she have change—in this one day—with him," bitterly exclaimed Anatole, pointing through the open window to where in a distant corner of the room Kirby sat at the card table. Mr. Randall merely nod-

NO CROP FAILURES IN NORTHWEST

WHEAT YIELD WILL BE 70 PER CENT OF LAST YEAR.

Financial Leaders Do Not See Panic or Hard Times Ahead for Country.

MONEY TO PAY MOVING GRAIN

Minneapolis, Minn., July 22.—The Northwestern farmer isn't going broke this year, whatever the wild wires may report of drouth, hot waves and crop failures, and however much the Chicago Board of Trade may shriek. He may be forced to take a reef in his 1909 bumper belt and do his own chauffeuring, but there's gasoline enough in sight to keep the motor buggy going.

The crops haven't failed. There's money enough to move them—and pay for them. The total yield will be smaller, but the old law of supply and demand, combined with an increased acreage, will help make up the difference.

Price to Be Higher.
Taken as a whole, the farmers of Minnesota, North Dakota and South Dakota will get a somewhat smaller crop. Mr. Ultimate Consumer will pay most of the freight this year, as usual, for flour and meat are going up—also as usual.

According to the men who finance and move the annual crop—the bankers—conditions in the three states are not as gloomy as they have been pictured. The hail didn't mash down all the wheat in South Dakota when it hit John Smith's 40-acre field up in Edmundsco, and the hot breezes didn't cook all the life out of North Dakota when they struck Devil's Lake.

Not Bumper Year.
This is not a bumper year by any means, as predicted early in the season, and the total will fall much below 1909, but you may always figure that reports of bumper crops and failures are about equally exaggerated, according to President E. W. Decker, of the Northwestern National Bank here.

"We will have a fair crop this year, and money enough to move it," says President Decker. "Minnesota's crop is good. South Dakota's about 75 per cent, and North Dakota's 50 per cent. This is based on an average crop of 13 to 14 bushels to the acre. An extra good crop will help even up matters in North Dakota."

"Oats have suffered considerably everywhere, but corn is doing very well especially in lower Minnesota, where they raise a good deal more of it than is generally supposed, and use it for hog feeding."

May Lower Pork.
Maybe that will help some when it comes to pork chops.

Other bankers in Twin Cities have much the same reports from clients all over the three big grain states. West of the Red river valley the farmers are hardest hit, and the whole state of North Dakota seems to have suffered more than her Southern sister or Minnesota.

The tightening of the money market has made the bankers chary and cautious on loans for commercial or speculative purposes, even on extra good security, but they have no fears of handling the crop movement.

Rains Have Helped.
"Two weeks ago I was rather pessimistic about the crop," said President Bailey of the First National of St. Paul, "but since then the rains have helped and I have learned from many points that the reports of total failure are confined to isolated cases."

"It is true they are plowing wheat under in some localities, but that condition is not at all general. The straw is short, but the grain on top is said to be filling out well."

"Wheat for milling purposes will be higher this fall. I would not be surprised to see it go above $1.25, or even to $1.50."

That means a higher duty on the staff of life, wherein Mr. Consumer helps the farmer bear his loss.

The Evening Sun—10c a Week.

ded and gloomily chewed his chofoot. He was facing a difficult problem and praying for the arrival of young Randall.

Presently from the music room there came the subdued harmony of a guitar and harp, and when the soft prelude had finished Adele's fine contralto took up the theme, singing, "I sent thee late a rose wreath, not so much honoring thee." It was Kirby's favorite song, snatches of which Anatole had heard the other humming at intervals since his arrival. Clearer, sweeter, purer sounded the words until the music ascended like an anthem and came stealing out of the window to mingle with the soft murmur of the night, to blend with the unheard, far distant harmony of the stars. Anatole stood transfixed, a prey to the bitterest emotions to which man was ever hostage.

FULTON REMAINS IN DRY COLUMN

VOTES AGAINST LICENSE BY A MAJORITY OF 18.

Liquor Men Say They Will Contest the Election Held There Yesterday.

JOLLIFICATION LAST NIGHT.

Fulton, Ky., July 22. (Special.)—Fulton will remain in the dry column after eight years' trial. The town voted dry at the local option election yesterday by a vote of 311 to 293. The fight was a bitter one with the victory apparently shifting from side to side up to the time of the election. The colored vote was a factor. At the last election the drys got it; but this time the wets marched to the polls with 60 colored votes. These had been guarded over night like a set of precious jewels, and efforts of the drys to get to them were unavailing.

The men in charge of the dry campaign declare they will keep up the organization and nominate and elect a city ticket this fall in sympathy with prohibition. They have declared war on bootleggers and blind tigers. Mayor Fall, who announced his adherence to the prohibition cause at a mass meeting, and the next day was quoted in the Leader as being wet again, was lined up with the drys yesterday and voted and worked on that side. The drys say he was threatened with a boycott after his declaration.

Last night the prohibition workers had a big jollification at the tavern, at which music and orators held sway until midnight. Two bands furnished the music.

Liquor men say they will contest the election.

New Hose Wagon Makes Run.
The first run of the new hose wagon installed at the Central fire station was made yesterday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock when fire caught a house occupied by Annie Rooney, colored, 737 Jackson street. The firemen say that the new wagon rode like a Pullman sleeping car, and despite the fact that it is made altogether to steel it the horses pulled it along the street like a racing cart. The fire was extinguished before it gained headway. The cause of the fire was a defective fuse. The house is owned by the Bethshares estate. Hose companies Nos. 1 and 4, and truck company No. 4, answered the alarm.

Distressing official statistics show that at the end of April out of a population of 35,760,000 in England and Wales there were 789,000 paupers, namely persons receiving public assistance. This figure—over 22 to 1,000 of the population—is one of the highest on record. London's paupers total 121,749, a ratio of about 25 to 1,000.—Indianapolis News.
